

It is a pleasure to sit down after work and not answer the phone at least 7 times to hear a sales person trying to sell you something. In our area it was a nightly occurrence. It did not stop all day on the weekends. Now you want to change it back to the way it was because of big business. We have a right to sit down to dinner in peace. Donald K. Hool Enjoying the phone silence.